

Federal Reserve System
Cash Product Office

March 16, 2020

The bearer of this letter is an armored carrier engaged in pandemic planning activities by delivering essential currency to support critical ATM, bank, and business operations during this declared national state of emergency for coronavirus COVID-19. This includes armored carrier employees that are traveling to and from work to carry out this role.

The Federal Reserve System request that all federal, state and local law enforcement agencies and emergency management agencies permit the bearer of this letter to enter areas affected in order to carry out this important task.

Thank you.
